Help us help those who protect our way of life..... In the early morning hours of March 22, 2006, Bernalillo County Sheriff's Deputy James McGrane Jr. was killed in the line of duty while making a traffic stop in Tijeras, NM. Traffic stops can pose a very significant danger to patrol officers. They never know what they will encounter when they approach a vehicle.

Mr. and Mrs. James McGrane Sr. have focused their efforts on honoring their son through the establishment of a law enforcement training fund in his name. They have worked tirelessly to raise money for advanced survival skills training, with the hopes that other lives might be saved.

In 2009, 300 officers from the State of New Mexico benefited from the Deputy James McGrane Jr. Officer Survival Training program. Our goal is to train as many or more officers in 2010. With your assistance, we can help protect those who risk their lives protecting us.

Please send a donation to the Deputy McGrane
